

Questions to Consider

The following is a list of conversation starters for your family:

- Look closely at an artwork. What details do you notice? Now look at the same artwork from farther away. Do you notice anything new or different?
- Choose a sculpture. Pick five words that you would use to describe it.
- If you could touch the sculpture, how might it feel?
- Compare two sculptures made out of different materials. Do they have similar or different textures?
- Choose a sculpture. If it could speak, how would it sound? If it could move, how would it move? Why?
- What does this sculpture remind you of?
- How does this sculpture make you feel?
- Let's be art detectives. How do you think this sculpture was made? What materials did Noguchi use? What tools?